PASSAGE THOUGHTS

Lesson 1: Who Is God?

We cannot do justice to describing God no matter how much space we have to write. We can only see a glimpse of Him as Moses did when God placed him in the cleft of a rock as He passed by. No one has seen God. But God can be seen and known by the things He has made.

The Hebrew term for God in Genesis 1 is "Elohim." It is a plural word used as if it were singular. This suggests a plural dimension to God's being. God exists in three persons, God the Father, God the Son and God the Holy Spirit. All three persons of God's nature were present at the creation of the world. God the Father is made known through God the Son and is understood through God the Holy Spirit.

In Genesis we see God as the Creator. In fact, throughout Scripture we see that God is the Creator (Ex. 20:1; Ps. 100:3; Acts 17:24). Often the Psalmist points to the work of God's hands, such as in Psalm 19:1 which points to the heavens that declare the work of God's hands, and in Psalm 150 which points to His mighty expanse. Hebrews 11:3 says that what we see was made of invisible things. Revelation 4:11 says that everything exists by God's will.

Psalm 139 points out God's omniscience, omnipresence and omnipotence. Then it tells of God's holiness and David's recognition of his unrighteousness. Psalm 136 points out God's everlasting lovingkindness to His creation and especially to the nation of Israel as He brought her out of Egypt, defeated her enemies and gave her a land as a heritage. Psalm 138:6 says that even though God is exalted, yet He regards the humble in the midst of the proud.

According to Psalm 19:7-9 God's law is perfect, right and pure just as He is. God is faithful. He keeps all His promises (Nm. 23:19). God is love. He loved us unconditionally even when we were His enemy (Rm. 5:8). God gives to us on the basis of His generosity and goodness by His grace (Eph. 2:8-9) even though He knows our sin and guilt. Matthew 9:36-38 points out God's compassion and mercy as He healed the people even though many would not turn to Him. God is also unchangeable (Heb. 7:21-24; Mal. 3:6; Ps. 55:19).

The tabernacle was the dwelling place of God in the wilderness. It pointed forward to Christ with its symbolism, including its colors, objects, arrangement and use. As the mercy seat covered the law inside the ark of the covenant, so Christ covered the law for us with His blood (Heb. 9:24-28; 1 Pet. 5:18). Christ was both the priest and the sacrifice. And when he finished His part, He sat down at the right hand of God because His work was complete (Jn. 19:30). The work of the human priest could never be complete, nor can our work ever be enough (Heb. 10:11-12, 14-17). In fact, all our righteousness falls short of God's holiness (Rm. 3:23).

Even in the garden of Eden God provided a temporary covering for Adam and Eve through the shed blood of an animal. And then He pointed to the future promise of the One who would bruise the head of the serpent in complete victory.

God has not chosen to overwhelm us with His power and works. He has carefully selected those portions of His being which would draw us to Himself because of His great love for us. However, that love is joined with His holiness and justice which must separate Him from our sin. For us to come to God, we must come through His son, Jesus Christ, who freely loved us and gave Himself for us (Rm. 5:8). There is no possible way for us to save ourselves.

God is the supreme ruler of the universe for eternity. Revelation 14:7 points to the hour of His judgment. Romans 11:36 says that all things are from Him, through Him and to Him. Jesus Christ, God's Son, is also ruler over all (1 Cor. 8:6, Col. 1:15-17). Who do you say God is? How does your life say who God is?

PASSAGE SUMMARY

Lesson 1: Who Is God?

The Scriptures give us a picture of who God is throughout their pages. According to Genesis 3:8, God spent time with Adam and Eve in the garden of Eden where they talked with Him. However, because of sin, they were separated from that communication with God. They were also condemned to death as each of us is today (Gn. 3:8-24). However, there is hope for us because of who God is (Jn. 3:17).

In Job 37, which was possibly written during the time of Abraham, Elihu pointed out the power of God. But then he said, "The Almighty -- we cannot find Him..." as if God had set things in motion but then had removed Himself from His creation.

However, beginning with Job 38, God spoke directly to Job and questioned Job about many magnificent things that He had done. Finally, Job 42:6 says that Job repented in dust and ashes. Job said that God could do all things and that no purpose of God's could be stopped.

Throughout the Old Testament God revealed Himself to many people at different times and in various ways. (Heb. 11:1-2) Some of those people were Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Joseph, Moses, Joshua, Samuel, David, Elijah, Isaiah, Daniel and Haggai. The tabernacle in the wilderness became the dwelling place of God where the people would go to worship Him. The tabernacle was a picture of Christ, or God the Son, who was to come (Ex. 35-40).

After some four hundred years of silence, Matthew began with genealogy of Jesus Christ, the son of David, the son of Abraham. Luke took the lineage back to Adam who was created by God the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost (Spirit). John began by saying, "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God." In John 14:6 Jesus explained that He was the way, the truth and the life and that no one comes to the Father but through Him. Jesus said that those who had seen Him had seen the Father (Jn. 14:19). In John 14:16 Jesus said the Father would give another Helper who would be the Holy Spirit according to John 14:26. The Father, Son and Holy Spirit are one, and they were all present at creation.

In Acts 17 Paul pointed out the altar the people had made to the unknown God. Paul began explaining the unknown God who was the Creator of the world and everything in it. God gives life, and from one man He gave life to every nation. God sovereignly determined the times and boundaries of nations. He said that the Godhead is far above what our minds can think of or describe.

However, God is loving and merciful (He gives us what we do not deserve). He was willing to overlook the times man had ignored Him. God calls man to repent because a day of righteous judgment has been set through His Son whom He raised from the dead. Some people rejected what Paul said, some wanted to hear more, and some joined him in belief. The New Testament ends by pointing us toward an eternity with or without God.

Not only the Scriptures, but also all that God has made clearly shows and helps us understand about God's eternal power and His divine nature (Rm. 1:18-21). No one has an excuse not to know God, who wants us to love and worship Him. Paul says that when we do not honor God or give thanks to Him, we are in danger of becoming fools and of being led into sin because of worshiping the creature rather than the Creator.

Who is God? When Moses asked that question in Exodus 3:13, God replied by saying, "I AM THAT I AM." He made us, and He wants us to come to Him. He is far more than we can understand.
